Patrick J. Flanagan and Anna Kane were married at Sacred Heart Catholic church in the Pilsen neighborhood of Chicago on 9/2/1886.

Patrick was the son of James Flanagan and Bridget Gaharn. The Flanagan family settled in Port Huron, MI around 1865 from Ireland. On balance of probabilities, it is more likely than not and highly plausible to be true that Patrick was born in Collinstown, County Westmeath (Ireland) in 1856. Refer to the James Flanagan and Bridget Gaharn documentary for detailed analysis of these documents. Patrick was baptized at the Collinstown Catholic church on 11/23/1856. The church did not list date of birth.

Anna Kane was the daughter of Patrick Kane and Bridget Rochford. She was born in 1861 in Claremorris, County Mayo (Ireland) and baptized at the Kilcolman Catholic church on 9/15/1861. The church did not list the date of birth. Anna settled in Chicago, IL from Claremorris around 1881 along with her two brothers Martin and John Kane.

Patrick relocated to Chicago from Port Huron around 1884. His sisters Catherine and Mary and brother John also lived in Chicago, at least on a temporary basis. Patrick remained in Chicago for the rest of his life while his siblings relocated elsewhere.

The Flanagan surname was spelled with a variety of phonetic versions, such as Flannigan, Flanigan, and Flannagan. The Kane surname was also spelled Keane. Anna was also written as Ann, Anne, and Annie.

Patrick Flanagan and Anna Kane had a total of nine children, all born in Chicago:

Child	Born	Baptism	Notes
James Patrick Flanagan	6/13/1887	St. Pius V (Pilsen)
Martin John Flanagan	11/7/1888	Holy Family (Near West Side)
Anna A. Flanagan	8/12/1890	Sacred Heart (Pilsen)
Mary Flanagan	12/19/1891	Sacred Heart (Pilsen)
Catherine M. Flanagan	1/18/1895	St. Agnes (Brighton Park)
Margaret Mary Flanagan	1/14/1897	St. Agnes (Brighton Park)
John Flanagan	9/1/1899	Baptism not found	Died when 11 days old
Bridget Agnes Flanagan	7/21/1901	St. Agnes (Brighton Park)
Celia C. Flanagan	7/31/1903	Our Lady of Good Counsel (McKinley Park)

Their son Martin J. Flanagan, a World War I veteran, married Marie T. Talbot (granddaughter of William and Julia Rooney, prominent Old Settlers of Chicago), at Holy Name Cathedral in 1922. They are Michael E. Byczek's great-grandparents.

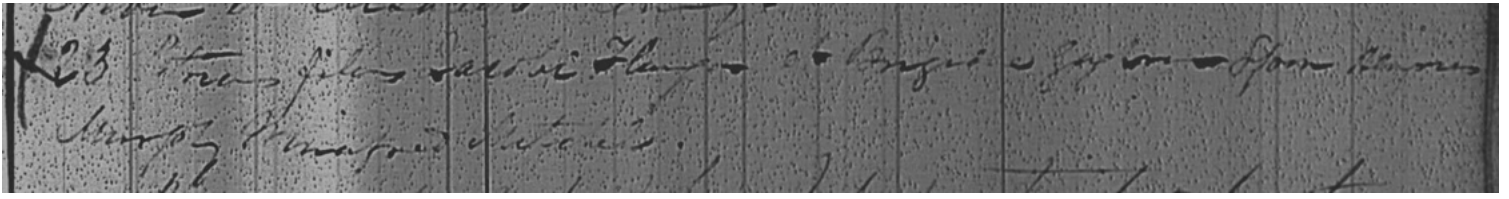

Patrick Flanagan primarily worked as a laborer. This included jobs in construction and as a watchman.

Anna (Kane) Flanagan was listed in 1938 as five foot and two inches tall.

Patrick Flanagan passed away on 11/11/1908 at the age of 51 while living at 3525 S. Paulina in the McKinley Park neighborhood of Chicago. His funeral was held at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church on 35th and Hermitage, near the Flanagan family home.

Anna (Kane) Flanagan passed away on 1/21/1941 at the age of 79 while living at 1749 W. 59th St in the West Englewood neighborhood of Chicago. Her funeral was held at St. Theodore on 62nd and Paulina, near her home.

Patrick and Anna Flanagan are buried together in their family plot at Olivet Cemetery in Chicago, IL along with their children Martin, Margaret, and John.

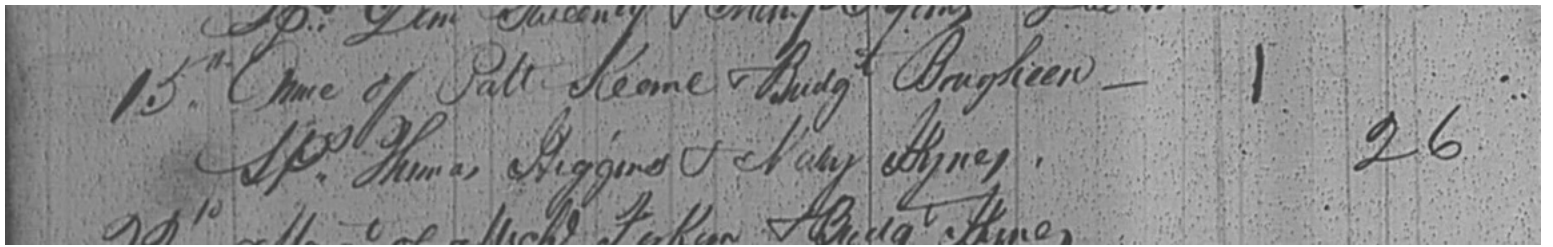

1856 Patrick Flanagan Baptism
Collinstown, County Westmeath (Ireland)

A baptism took place in Collinstown on November 23, 1856 that is a near perfect match for the Flanagan family. The record is somewhat illegible. The baby's name was Patrick.

The father's name is Jacob Flanagan. Jacob is a formal variation of James used for Catholic records. In fact, James was called Jacob in Port Huron for his son John's baptism in 1867.

The mother's first name is Bridget. Her maiden name appears to start the with the letters "Gagh" followed by two or three letters.

The Flanagan family and United States Citizenship

A strict interpretation of the law would conclude that James Flanagan, his wife Bridget, and their Irish born children (Patrick, Mary, and Catherine) were not citizens of the United States.

Michael E. Byczek, 3x-great-grandson of James Flanagan, is an Illinois attorney and has reviewed family documents from Chicago and Port Huron regarding their citizenship status. He has concluded that it is proper to pay tribute to the Flanagan family as if they were American citizens as of 1866 while residents of Port Huron, MI.

The misunderstanding originated in 1865 when James Flanagan filed his first papers and, one year later, filed a duplicate declaration rather than the final papers required for citizenship. Michael E. Byczek has concluded this was not the fault of his 3x-great-grandfather.

Documents show that James Flanagan may not have been able to read or write. Court records suggest that he did not understand the intricacy of legal documents, the complexity of law, or government-imposed procedures.

A plausible chronology of events is described as follows:

1865: James Flanagan walked into a government office and announced his intentions to become an American citizen. The government official instructed James to fill out a form and return in one year to complete another document.

1866: After waiting one year, James Flanagan returned to the government office and again announced that he wanted to become a citizen. The government official told him to fill out a document and go home. James Flanagan did so, and told his entire family that they had become American citizens.

In this scenario, James Flanagan had the sincere intention of becoming an American citizen, followed the procedures to the best of his ability, and lived the rest of his life proud to be a citizen of the United States, despite the lack of a final review of his paperwork or administration of an oath. James Flanagan would not have understood these requirements or procedures.

Both James and Bridget Flanagan passed away in Port Huron believing they were American citizens. Patrick Flanagan told Anna Kane that when they were married, she would become a citizen through marriage. He spent the rest of his life believing that he was an American citizen.

Anna (Kane) Flanagan spent her entire widowhood proud to be an American citizen until her sister-in-law discovered that her father did not file final papers. Anna Flanagan immediately proceeded to become a citizen in her own right in 1938. She passed away just three years later.

In her naturalization documents, Anna (Kane) Flanagan stated:

Given the question "I was informed by the following-named person or persons that I was a citizen of the United States", Anna answered:

About Sept. 1886, from about the time we were married, my husband told me he was a citizen of the U.S. by naturalization of his father James Flanagan in Pt. Huron, Mich. In about March 1919 when women were starting to vote I registered to vote being as I thought my husband had been a citizen.

With regard to the question of "I continued as above indicated until the date shown below when I became apprised under the following circumstances that my impression was erroneous", Anna replied:

About Sept. 1937 my sister-in-law Cather Hogwood, sent me her father's papers and I found that they were only 1st papers and that he had never taken final papers.

Anna further explained, given the question "I have exercised the following rights and duties of a citizen of the United States", that:

I have voted since March 1919. I had one son, Martin Flanagan, in the World War.

For these reasons, Michael E. Byczek pays tribute to his 2x-great-grandparents Patrick Flanagan and Anna Kane along with his 3x-great-grandparents James Flanagan and Bridget Gaharn as if they were American citizens. Refer to the James and Bridget Flanagan documents for analysis of the documents from Port Huron, MI.

1940 Census
 Chicago, IL

Address Chronology

- 1886: Marriage at Sacred Heart (19th and Peoria in the Pilsen neighborhood)
The church is most likely where Anna, at minimum, was a parishioner.
- 1887: 1330 W. 18th Street
James was baptized at St. Pius (19th and Ashland in Pilsen). The address listed on the delayed birth certificate filed in 1939 may not have been accurate, but most likely was near the church.
- 1888: Martin baptized at Holy Family (Roosevelt and Racine in the Near West Side).
The family most likely lived near the church.
- 1890-1891: Anna and Mary baptized at Sacred Heart, thus the family most likely lived near the church.
- 1893: 166 W. Jackson Blvd. (present-day 741 W. Jackson) in the West Loop.
Not verified, but highly likely. It appears that Patrick's brother and both sisters were associated with the same building.
- 1894-1907 3809 S. Lincoln (now Wolcott Ave) in McKinley Park
- 1908-1918 3525 S. Paulina St. in McKinley Park
- 1919: 5623 S. Ashland Ave in West Englewood (Martin Flanagan's WWI military records)
- 1920: 7331 S. Racine Ave in Englewood
- 1923-1941 1749 W. 59th Street in West Englewood

It is unclear whether the Flanagan family attended the new church shown in this photo.
An earlier church was located behind the new building.

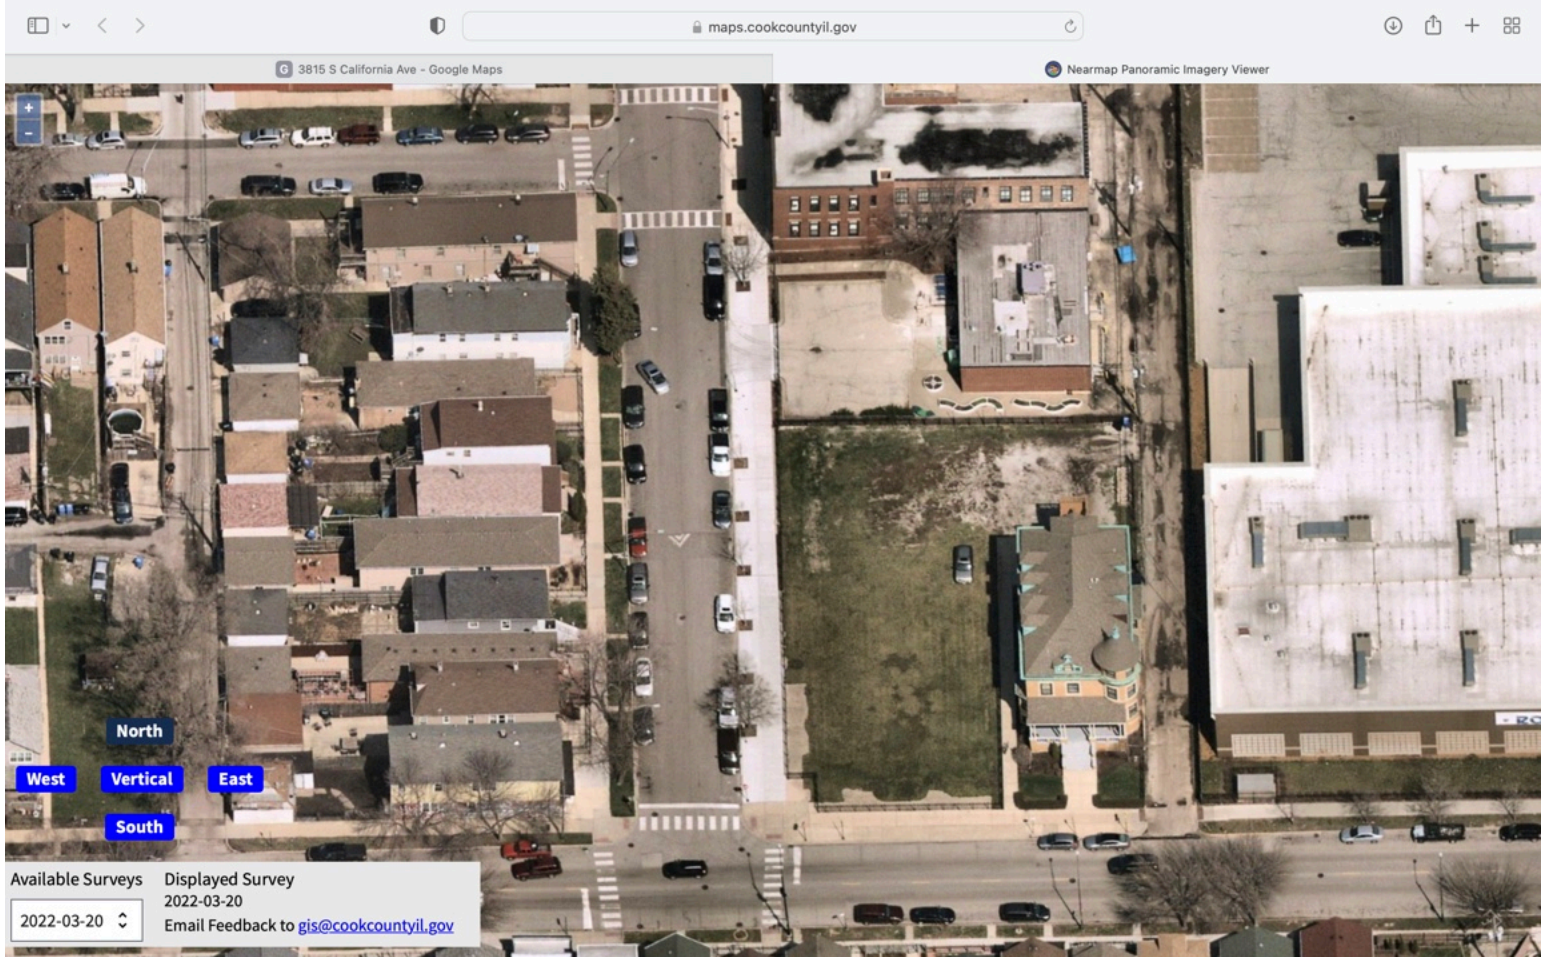

1896 Sanborn Insurance Map

This is the original church that the Flanagan would have attended.
 It is unclear when this particular building was constructed, or whether there was an even earlier church.

39th St (Pershing) is along the bottom. Washtenaw is the vertical street in the middle. 38th Pl is along the top left side.

Anna (Kane) Flanagan listed the address of 1330 W. 18th Street on the delayed birth certificate for her son James in 1939. It is unclear whether this address was actual or approximate. Chicago addresses were re-numbered in 1909. Anna may not have known the new address for where the family lived in 1887.

Scenario 1. 1330 W. 18th St was their actual address in 1887.

Analysis

Using the 1909 renumbering system, there wasn't an address 1330 W. 18th St in 1909. 1322 W. 18th St was renumbered to 2706 while 1334 was renumbered to 2716 W. 18th St. Since 1334 is closer to 1330 than 1322, 2716 W. 18th St is used as a possible location of their residence. Insurance maps for 1886 and 1893 suggest that the houses were not yet built in this area. The 1893 map shows that 1322 W. 18th St was built between 1886 and 1893. However, this location does not correlate with any known Flanagan family residential history and was probably too far away from St. Pius where James Flanagan was baptized.

Scenario 2. 1330 W. 18th St is the present-day address, based on the renumbering system.

Analysis

Based on the 1909 renumbering system, 526 W. 18th St was renumbered to 1328 W. 18th St and 530 W. 18th St was renumbered to 1332 W. 18th St. This suggests that there wasn't an actual address in 1909 that could have been renumbered to 1330 W. 18th St. This suggests that when Anna Flanagan used that address in 1939, she had estimated the address.

There is currently a building that occupies multiple lots with the address of 1334 W. 18th St, suggesting it would have also included 1330 W. 18th St visualizing multiple 25-foot lots. Based on the 1886 insurance map, the present-day building was built where the original houses were torn down. Therefore, it's possible that the Flanagan family was living in one of these original buildings at what would have been approximately 530 W. 18th St, which was renumbered to 1332 W. 18th St. In 1909, the addresses being renumbered skipped from 526 (1328) to 530 (1332). This suggests that if there had been a 528 W. 18th St, it would have been renumbered to 1330 W. 18th St. Therefore, if Anna Flanagan was basing the address of 1330 W. 18th St as the present-day equivalent, the Flanagan family would have been living at 528 W. 18th St when James was born in 1887. This makes sense, because James was baptized at St. Pius, located about two blocks away.

Scenario 3. Anna Flanagan didn't remember the exact address in 1887, and estimated the present-day address, based on the renumbering system.

Analysis

The 1887 Chicago Directory listed a Patrick Flanagan living at 589 W. 18th St. Based on the 1909 renumbering, that address is present-day 1439 W. 18th Street, which is one block away.

It's possible that Anna Flanagan couldn't remember her address and provided the pre-1909 address of approximately 528 W. 18th Street when they were really living at 589 W. 18th St. It's also possible that the Flanagan family briefly lived at 528 W. 18th St without appearing in the Chicago Directory. They may have lived in multiple apartments on 18th Street. However, there are numerous Patrick Flanagan entries, with multiple phonetic spelling variations. It appears from the 1886 insurance map that the present-day building at 1439 W. 18th St is not the original building from 1887.

Chicago Directories

Patrick Flanagan's father James died in Port Huron, MI in 1882. Patrick was listed in the 1883 Port Huron Directory. He married Anna Kane in Chicago in 1886. Therefore, he relocated to Chicago between 1883-1886. Refer to the James Flanagan and Bridget Gaharn documentary for the Port Huron directories.

Patrick's sister Catherine married William Hogwood in Chicago in 1880. His sister Mary married Michael Hastings in Chicago in 1884. Her second marriage in Chicago took place in 1894 to William McCullouch, who was from Port Huron. They returned to Port Huron shortly after the marriage. Patrick's brother John was listed in the Port Huron Directory and census through 1888. He was married in Chicago in 1889 and moved to Los Angeles between 1900 and 1909.

Anna Kane also settled in Chicago around 1883. It's unknown when her two brothers John and Martin arrived in Chicago. She most likely lived with at least one of them near Sacred Heart Church in 1886.

A few surname variations appear in the directories, such as Flanagan, Flanigan, Flannagan, and Flannigan along with Kane and Keane.

There is a match for Patrick and John Flanagan at 141 W. Adams (images of John not shown here). It is possible that John was traveling between Chicago and Port Huron. William Hogwood is about to appear at 166 W. Jackson. The two addresses are very close. The Michael Hastings at 180 Ambrose is probably correct (around 22nd Pl and Hoyne). There is a match for John and Martin Kane at 186 Brown (around 14th and Sangamon), which was not too far from Sacred Heart. In 1886, there was a Patrick Flanagan living a few houses away. This is a possibility for how Patrick and Anna met and were married at the church in 1886.

There is a Patrick Flanagan living at 171 Brown. William Hogwood is living at 1008 S. Wood (near Ambrose), the same general area that Hogwood and Hastings had been living. It would appear that Michael Hastings is at 13 Hope (around Blue Island and Lexington).

Anna stated they lived at 1330 W. 18th St. in 1887. The 142 W. 18th address is not correct, because that family has been there for several years. 156 is probably too far from St. Pius. 589 W 18th is the best candidate because it would have been about three blocks from Ashland. This is also when William Hogwood moved to Jackson and Halsted.

This is the year Martin was baptized at Holy Family, so the family would have been living nearby. However, it's unknown at what time during the year the directory was compiled. There is still a viable prospect at 589 W. 18th. The listing for 308 S. Halsted is also possible. It would have been between Taylor and Harrison, not too far from Holy Family. William Hogwood is at 166 W. Jackson (Halsted). In 1889 there is a John who was a bartender at 166 W. Jackson (Hogwood) and was listed twice under Flanagan and Flannigan. Here, there is a bartender at 131 S. Peoria listed both as Flanagan and Flannigan (very close to Jackson and Halsted).

William Hogwood is at 166 W. Jackson with Michael Hastings at 159 W. Jackson, which seems to reflect the correct family versus a coincidence. John Flanagan, a bartender, is also at 166 W. Jackson. The same entry is listed under Flannigan. This is the year John was married at St. John (18th and Clark). It is unknown if any of these entries are relevant for Patrick Flanagan.

William Hogwood is at 156 W. Jackson. There is an entry for Minnie Hastings, widow of Michael, at 179 S. California (near Adams). This must be Mary unless a very strange coincidence. This is the year that Minnie remarried (McCullough). It is unknown if any of these entries are relevant for Patrick.
