Thomas Talbot and Hannah McDonald were married in Taunton, MA on 6/21/1852 at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Thomas was 29 and Hannah was about 25 years old.

Both Thomas and Hannah settled in Taunton with members of their families around 1848 during the Irish Famine. Thomas was joined by his brother William. Hannah lived with her brothers John and James. Both Hannah and her brother John interchanged the surnames McDonald and McDonnell. It appears that McDonald may be the better candidate for their real name, but both are equally likely to be accurate.

Analysis of records show, on balance of probabilities, that Thomas was the son of John Talbot and Mary Bourke from Ballinlonty, County Tipperary (Ireland). The family was also associated with the adjacent village of Fishmoyne, both within the Drom and Inch Catholic Parish. Thomas was baptized on 4/8/1823.

The identities of Hannah's parents and her place of birth have not been verified. Analysis of records from Taunton, MA provided one possibility that the McDonald family was also from Co. Tipperary. The best conclusion about Hannah's birth is that she was born around 1827.

The Talbot family remained in Taunton through the naturalization process, which was finalized in 1857. They briefly lived in Wisconsin and St. Louis (Missouri) prior to settling in Chicago, IL around 1861. Analysis of city directories show a high likelihood that Thomas, perhaps alone, sought opportunities in California before the family moved from Massachusetts to Wisconsin.

Upon arrival in Chicago, the Talbot family briefly lived near St. Patrick's Church in the West Loop neighborhood on Canal and Van Buren. They purchased real estate on 17th and Wentworth in the South Loop neighborhood where the family lived for about 20 years. Thomas Talbot ran a saloon in their two story building located at 1700 S. Wentworth for about ten years. He began the business shortly before the Great Chicago Fire in 1871 (the area was not destroyed by the fire).

Thomas and Hannah Talbot had at least four children:

Child	Born	Location	Notes
Edward Henry Talbot	6/30/1854	Taunton, MA	Baptized at St. Mary's. He is also associated with the middle name Howard.
James Talbot	About 1857	Wisconsin	Birth/Baptism not found. Died in Chicago in 1865.
Thomas J. Talbot	About 12/1859	Wisconsin	Birth/Baptism not found
William Thomas Talbot	5/1/1862	Chicago, IL	Baptized at St. Patrick's. Later used the name William G. Talbot.

The 1900 census lists that Hannah Talbot had two deceased and three living children. While this may have been a mistake, there was a three or four year gap between Edward and James when another child may have been born. This child, if true, was not listed in the 1860 St. Louis census.

Their son Edward H. Talbot married Kittie A. Rooney at Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago, IL in 1880. Kittie was the daughter of prominent early settlers of Chicago William and Julia Rooney. Edward and Kittie Talbot are Michael E. Byczek's 2x-great-grandparents.

Thomas is best remembered for his saloon on 17th and Wentworth, but also worked as a moulder, teamster, and contractor.

James Talbot passed away in 1865 at the age of about seven years old while the family lived on 17th and Wentworth. Thomas Talbot's brother William was living with the family at the saloon when he passed away in 1871. Hannah's brother James joined the Talbot family in St. Louis and Chicago. He passed away in Chicago in 1870 and was most likely living at the saloon, since the Talbot family arranged his funeral and burial. All three are buried together in Thomas and Hannah Talbot's first family plot at Calvary Cemetery in Evanston, IL.

Thomas and Hannah Talbot relocated to the Grand Boulevard neighborhood at 4132 S. Wabash in 1887. All three of their surviving sons also moved into the building, including Edward's wife Kittie and their children Frank and Marie.

Thomas Talbot was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters. The family were parishioners at St. Elizabeth, which was located on the corner of their block. Earlier, the family had been associated with St. John, which was located about one block away from the saloon on 18th and Clark.

Thomas passed away on 12/26/1892 and Hannah on 1/29/1903. Both were living at 4132 S. Wabash. Their funerals were held at St. Elizabeth. Hannah Talbot purchased a new family plot at Calvary after Thomas died and sold the remaining graves in their first plot. Edward and Kittie Talbot's son Edgar was also buried in that first plot.

Buried together at the second Talbot family plot at Calvary with Thomas and Hannah are their (1) son Edward; (2) daughter-in-law Kittie A. Talbot, Edward's first wife; (3) granddaughter Marie Flanagan, daughter of Edward and Kittie Talbot; (4) great-granddaughter Anna Flanagan, Edward and Kittie's granddaughter; (5) son Thomas and his wife Bridget; (6) Edward's second wife Delia Talbot, who was the niece of Thomas Talbot, and her second husband John Hudson; and (7) Delia's brother Thomas, who was also Thomas Talbot's nephew.

Thomas and Hannah Talbot's three sons sold the family home at 4132 S. Wabash after their mother's death in 1903. The family had owned the building for about 16 years.

Hannah (McDonald/McDonnell) Talbot's Maiden Name

Hannah's maiden name only appears on a few documents:

1852 Presumptive Marriage: McDaniel (2) and McDonnell (1)

1855 MA Census in Taunton: John and James McDonald are living with the Talbot family [presume two of Hannah's brothers]

1860 Census (St. Louis) James McDonald is living with the Talbot family [presume Hannah's brother]

1862 son William's baptism at St. Patrick: McDonnell

1870 Burial of Hannah's brother James in Chicago: McDonnell

1900 son Edward and Delia's Marriage: McDonald

1911 son Thomas's Death Certificate: McDonaldson

Analysis

Both Hannah and her brother James interchanged the spelling of McDonald and McDonnell.

Hannah's son Edward only referred to his mother's maiden name once (McDonald). The widow of Hannah's son Thomas, also did so only once (McDonaldson).

The frequency of surnames across all known documents are:

4: McDonald/McDonaldson:

3: McDonnell

2: McDaniel

Conclusion

McDonald is the best candidate for Hannah Talbot's maiden name based on frequency and the usage of that name by her children. However, both surnames are equally likely to be accurate.

Presumptive Marriage of Thomas Talbot and Hannah McDonald/McDonnell

There was a marriage in Taunton for June 21, 1852 at St. Mary Church. This marriage is written three different ways with three different spellings. It is presumed, but unconfirmed, that this is the correct Thomas and Hannah.

Marriage Intention: Thomas Tabut and Hannorah McDaniel

Marriage (Civil): Thomas Tabut and Hannah McDaniel

Church Record: Thomas Talbot and Ellen McDonnell

Conclusion

This is the same church where Edward was baptized in 1854.

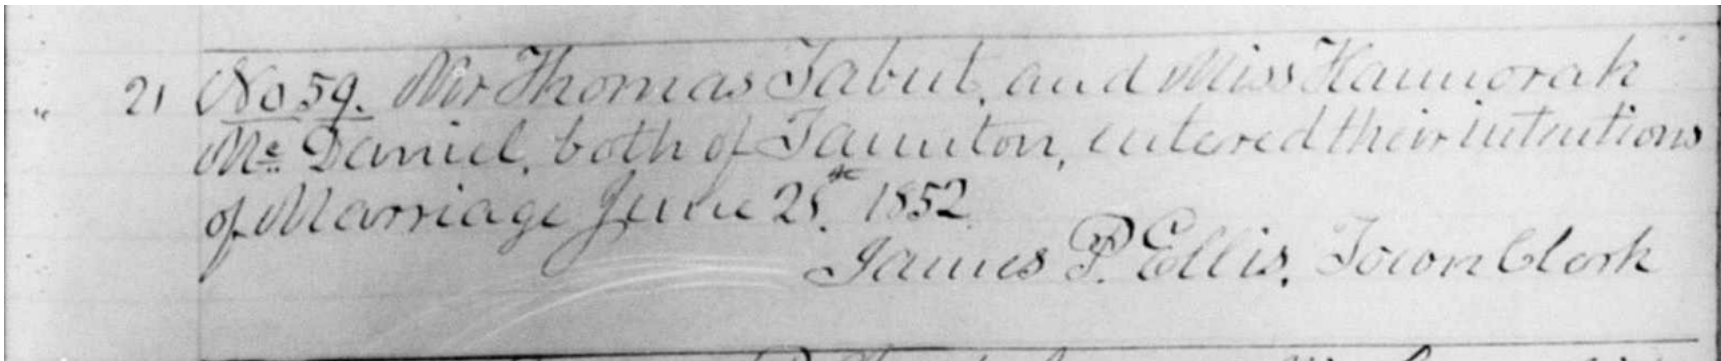

There appears to only be one Thomas Talbot in Taunton, even though there are about five total Talbot families.

Hannah used both names Hannah and Hanora in Chicago.

It is presumed that McDaniel was a spelling error (very similar, especially is the original handwriting was hard to read).

It is also presumed that since the church that wrote Ellen, that may have been a religious interpretation.

Since the name Talbot was also misspelled in the civil records (Tabut), it is equally plausible that Hannah's name was also misspelled (McDaniel versus McDonnell).

Index of Marriage Intentions

Note: It's possible that the intention record itself exists. There is a formal document for Taunton as of 1850.

It is unknown whether other marriage documents exist.

Entry from St. Mary Church in Taunton, MA.

Note: Wife is spelled Ellen McDonnell

It seems unlikely that two Thomas Talbots were married in Taunton on the exact same day.

Therefore, it is presumed that there are two layers of mistakes.

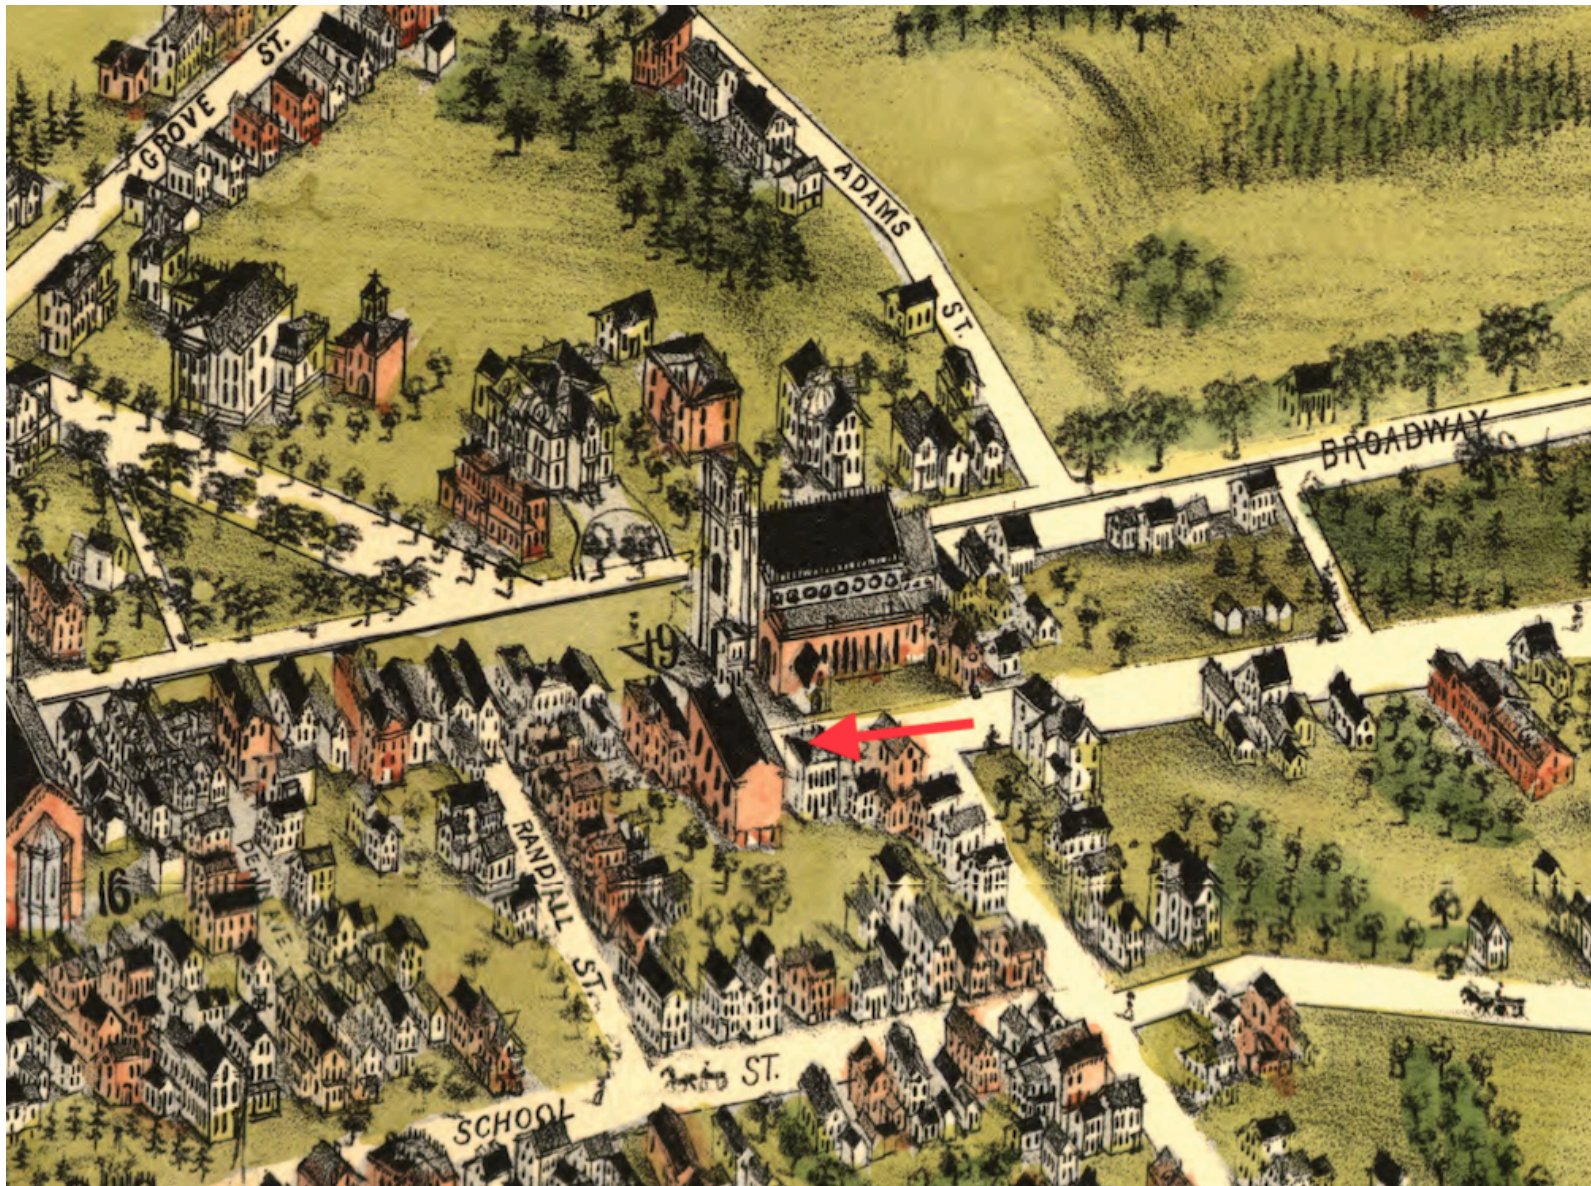

First, the civil records incorrectly list Hannah as McDaniel.

Second, the church incorrectly listed her as Ellen (unless the names are religiously interchangeable)

The witnesses were Martin Hoy and Ann Harrington.

However, it is unknown why there is another set of names written above (Daniel Cosgrove and Ann Cromyn).

It would appear linked as record #3, unless somebody squeezed two marriages into the same record, or perhaps both took place on the same day.

1875 Birds-Eye View of St. Mary Church

Online sources refer to the original church having been rebuilt after the 1856 Fire on the site of the current rectory before it was moved to East Taunton.

The location of the rectory shows a building with what appears to be a bell tower.

It's hard to confirm from this perspective, but that may be the original church where Thomas and Hannah were married and Edward baptized.

St. Mary Church in Taunton, MA with the rectory across the street.

According to online sources, the church was built in 1868 with the original church (built in 1832) on the location where the rectory is located.

Online sources also state that the original church burned down in 1856 and may have been moved to East Taunton (?)

The Talbot family would never have seen this church, but the original church would have been in this location.

[3] Thomas and Hannah did not have a gravestone at time of death.

[4] Thomas listed a specific date of birth

[5] Presumed marriage. Hannah's age missing.

Conclusions:

Hannah:

Age is consistently 1827-1830.

The range 1827-1828 appears the most (four times).

The year 1830 appears twice.

Thomas:

The overall range is 1824-1830.

1824-1826 appears to be the best range as it appears five times.

The range 1827-1830 appears twice.

Early May 1826 appears twice (naturalization papers and death certificate).

However, somebody may have looked at the naturalization papers when he died for his age. May 1 and May 10 could be a mistake.

Thomas Talbot Probate

Thomas Talbot named his eldest son Edward H. Talbot as his sole beneficiary. It was Edward who would receive all of the Talbot family personal belongings after Hannah Talbot passed away. Thomas expressly requested that his daughter-in-law Kittie Talbot hold the property for their children should Edward pass away prior to his mother Hannah. The other two sons, Thomas and William, would only receive money after Hannah's death and the house at 4132 S. Wabash was sold. Edward and Kittie's son Frank was the only family member to receive any property at the time of Thomas's death, which was a life insurance policy from St. John Church located at 18th and Clark. It is presumed that Thomas purchased the life insurance policy while they were living at 17th and Wentworth.

The Will shown below was a copy entered into a master ledger book maintained by the Cook County court.

Thomas Talbot stated that he was going blind at the time he signed the Will in 1890.

That would imply that bodies were buried in order of death.

Following the chronology of deaths, the first six were Thomas, Kittie, Hannah, Edward, Thomas, and Bridget. These are probably the six separate graves. After Bridget in 1914, bodies started being buried on top of the others. That would imply that these four missing graves are the two graves on each end.

It makes sense that Thomas and Hannah are buried alone with the baby at their feet. Bodies were most likely stacked along their sides (two to the left and two to the right).

See below for analysis of where Kittie could be buried.

FORM NO. 107 17M 1-49 R

Original Thomas and Hannah Talbot Family Plot (Calvary Cemetery - Evanston, IL)

Detailed records do not exist prior to the transfer from Hannah Talbot to Ellen Doyle
 Thomas and Hannah Talbot were responsible for the first four burials in these graves

1865 - Their son James Talbot
 1870 - James McDonnell, brother of Hannah (presumed)
 1871 - William Talbot, confirmed brother of Thomas Talbot
 1888 - Their grandson Edgar Talbot (son of Edward H. Talbot and Kittie A. Rooney)

Hannah Talbot sold the remaining unused graves to Ellen Doyle when she purchased a larger family plot after Thomas Talbot died in 1892. It is unknown how eight individuals were buried in only three graves, or whether the three graves reference those unused and sold by Hannah Talbot.

Known Birth and Baptism records for the Children of Thomas Talbot and Hannah McDonald

It is unknown where in Wisconsin their sons James and Thomas were born or the church where they were baptized.

It is also unknown if there was a fifth child, and if so, where that child was born and died.

The mother's name is written Dwyer.

The civil birth record shows Edward Talbot, son of Thomas and Hannah Talbot, born on June 30th.

This is an Edward, son of Thomas Talbot, born on June 30th and baptized on July 2nd.

It seems highly unlikely that there are two births on the same day with the same baby and father names.

Since the mother doesn't have a first name, it can be assumed there is an error.

Also note, only one sponsor is written. The name appears to be Jane Owen (?)

Immigration Analysis and Known Residential Chronology

Immigration for Thomas: 1857 Naturalization: 8/26/1848 (New York) [1]

Immigration for Hannah: 1900 Census: 1848 [2]

Known Residences

Taunton, MA 1851: Naturalization in 1857 refers to six years in Taunton (could also refer to six years from his intention filed in 1854)
6/1852: Presumptive Marriage
6/1854: Edward Birth
7/1855: MA Census
3/1857: Thomas Naturalization

Wisconsin 1858: James Birth
12/1859: Thomas Birth

St. Louis, MO 8/1860: Census

Chicago, IL 5/1862: William Baptism at St. Patrick [3]

Arrival in Chicago:

Hannah's Death Certificate: 1861
Thomas's Death Certificate: 1861
1888 Voter Registration: 1861 (Both Thomas and Edward)
1863 (Thomas Jr - Cannot be right because William was baptized in Chicago in 1862)
1890 Voter Registration: 1861 (Edward)
Edward Death Certificate: 1860
Thomas Jr. Death Certificate: 1871 (Cannot be right)

1861 Appears to be a very reliable year for their arrival in Chicago.

Notes:

[1] There is a Thomas Talbot who arrived in New York on 9/8/1848 with two Talbot females (Mary and Betsy). They listed their destination as Philadelphia. This is presumed to be a coincidence, and otherwise shows the difficulty in verifying information when documents in this era did not provide enough family information.

[2] There are multiple Hannah/Hanora McDonald/McDonnell arrivals for 1848 across several different ports of entry.

[3] Thomas first appears in the Chicago Directory for the 1863-1864 Edition.

Census

1850: Neither Thomas Talbot nor Hannah McDonnell/McDonald/McDaniel have been verified.

1855 Massachusetts State Census: Thomas and Hannah Talbot living in Taunton. Edward is one year old. Thomas is working as Moulder.

They are listed as a separate building based on order of visit.

John and James McDonald are living with the Talbot family, presumably Hannah's brothers.

Note: There is an Edward McDonald living in a large boarding house type building right next door (27 years old).

1860: St. Louis, Missouri (Eighth Ward) - Thomas working as a Porter.

Hannah listed as Hanora. There is a James McDonald living with them, presumed to be Hannah's brother.

Thomas and Hannah have two more children, James and Thomas, born in Wisconsin.

1865 Illinois State Census: Not found

1870: Chicago, IL - Address is not listed (Sixth Ward), but this has to be 17th and Wentworth

Thomas is a saloon keeper. Edward (16) is "at home" while Thomas and William are attending school.

They have a tenant in the building (Peter Forteir, working as a Cooper).

Thomas (who should own the building) listed as having $3,000 worth of real estate and $500 worth of personal property.

Talbot is spelled Talbott and Hannah listed as Ahnora (phonetic for Hanora).

1880: 1700 Wentworth - Talbot family are the only residents of the building.

Thomas working as Teamster. Edward a bookkeeper. Thomas Jr a blacksmith. William a bookkeeper.

Note: Edward and Kittie were married about two weeks after the census was taken.

1900: 4132 Wabash - Hannah and Edward (Thomas died in 1892) - Hannah owns the building.

They have tenants in the building (O'Neil family)

Hannah is listed with an occupation, but it's abbreviated and illegible. Edward listed as Real Estate.

Hannah lists that she has two deceased children and that she immigrated in 1848.

Taunton, MA

It is unknown when Thomas Talbot and Hannah McDonald first arrived in Taunton and whether one or both were living elsewhere immediately after settling in the United States from Ireland.

Only select city directories are available online for Taunton during these years. These directory listings do not provide enough information about the addresses for a full analysis.

Thomas and Hannah appear to have been married in Taunton in 1852.
It is unknown whether either were living in 1850, or whether Hannah's three presumed brothers were already in Taunton.

1855 Taunton City Directory

Thomas was a moulder when he first arrived in Chicago and was listed as a moulder on Edward's birth record in 1854.
 It is curious that there is also a William Talbot who is a moulder living on the same street (but not necessarily the same house) - Presumed to be his brother.

Thomas filed for citizenship the year before (declaration in 1854 and it was also the year that Edward was born).

There is a John and Edward McDonald also living on Market St.

The 1855 census is when John and James were living with the Talbot family and Edward McDonald appears to have been living next door.

1857 Taunton City Directory

It would appear that there is only one Thomas Talbot in Taunton.

The directory refers to California.

This is the year that Thomas was naturalized and the family was already in Wisconsin in 1858.

It's possible that Thomas went to California looking for opportunities while Hannah stayed in Taunton.

Also note that William Talbot is still a molder and they both have very coincidental addresses: 7 Winthrop for Thomas and 7 Porter for William. Hard to tell about McDonald because James followed the Talbot family to St. Louis in 1860. It's possible that John stayed behind and got married in Taunton.

1859 Taunton City Directory

Thomas Talbot is already in Wisconsin and James McDonald was with them in St. Louis in 1860.

Both Thomas and William Talbot have vanished from the directory, as does James McDonald.

There were three John McDonald entries in 1855, now only two.

7 Winthrop appears to be the same location (current) compared to older maps, but cannot confirm from the 1850's.

7 Winthrop - Present Day

Unknown when this building was built or whether the addressing system was the same in the 1850's. The building looks like the 1875 Birds-Eye Map, but a similar building could have been built in the same place.

St. Louis, MO

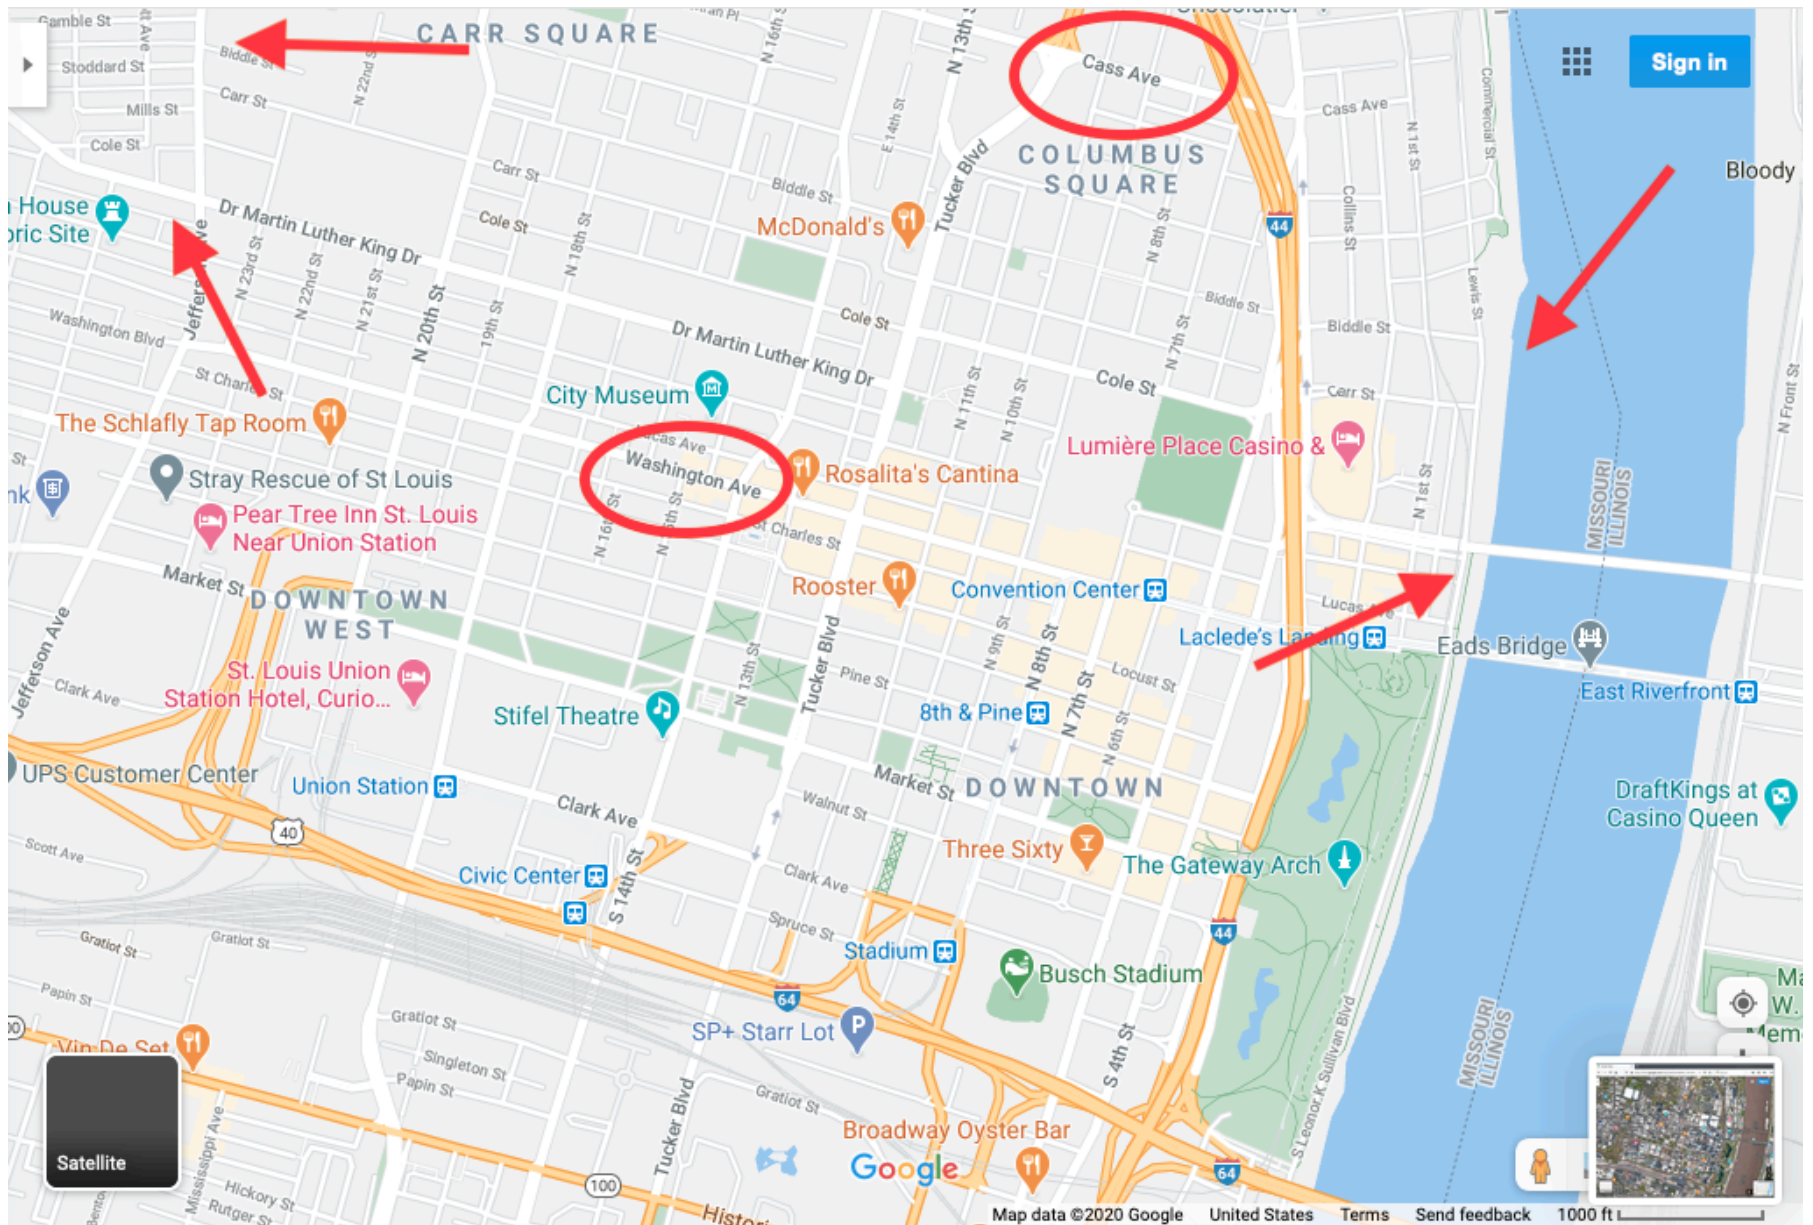

The only reference to the Talbot family in St. Louis was the 1860 census without an address. The census did list the Ward number. Analysis of old maps reveal the approximate boundaries of that ward on present-day maps.

 Shape of the Ward was not entirely a perfect rectangle, the the four arrow points essentially show the four corners.

1864-65	SE Corner 17th and LaSalle - moulder [See sections below and there may not have been a SE Corner]
1865	"ES Wentworth near 17th" - moulder ["near 17th" implies that the building was not on the corner. Could be N or S of 17th. Presume ES = east side]
1867-68	33 Wentworth - moulder [33 is presumed to be the SE corner of 17th and Wentworth] NOTE: It's possible the Saloon was originally 33 **
1869	33 Wentworth - moulder
1870	32 Wentworth - saloon [census shows "saloon keeper" without an address]

1883	1700 Wentworth - Unconfirmed whether the father or son is listed as a "contractor"
1885	1700 Wentworth [at this point, Thomas is not listed with an occupation again - either retired, or not answering the questions]
1886	same
1887	same
1888-1903	4132 Wabash [Thomas and Hannah both died at this address - Thomas in 1892 and Hannah in 1903]

Perspectives

1. It is unknown where they were living before 1863-64, even though they may have been in Chicago for two years at that point.
2. They lived at 17th and Wentworth (including LaSalle) for about 23 years - most of their life in Chicago.
3. They lived at 4132 Wabash for about 15 years (through Hannah's death in 1903).
4. Thomas ran the saloon for about 8 years.

Canal and Van Buren
West Loop - Chicago, IL

The former address of 231 S. Canal appears to have been the corner, or near the corner, of Canal and Van Buren.

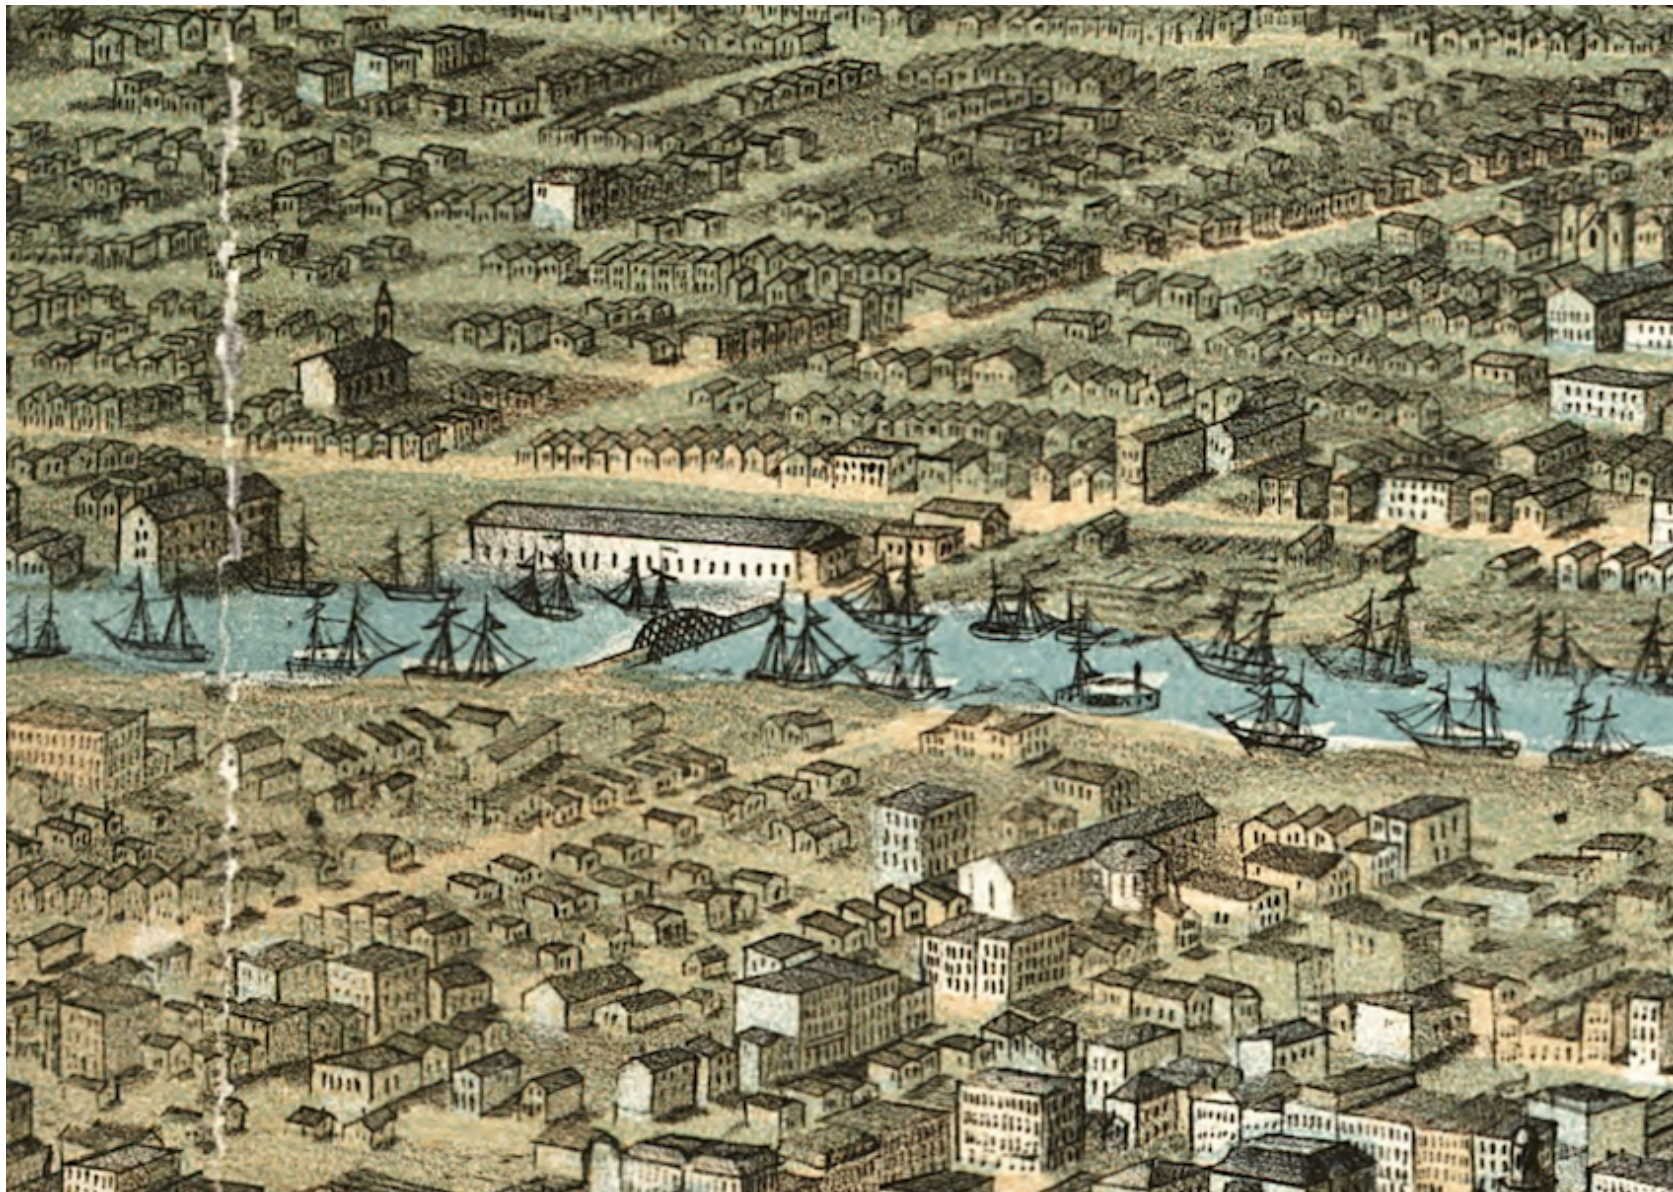

This is the only known address for the Talbot family during the first three or four years that they lived in Chicago prior to settling at 17th and Wentworth.

1857 Birds Eye view showing Canal and Van Buren

231 Canal (according to more recent addressing scheme) would have been the corner behind the front dome)

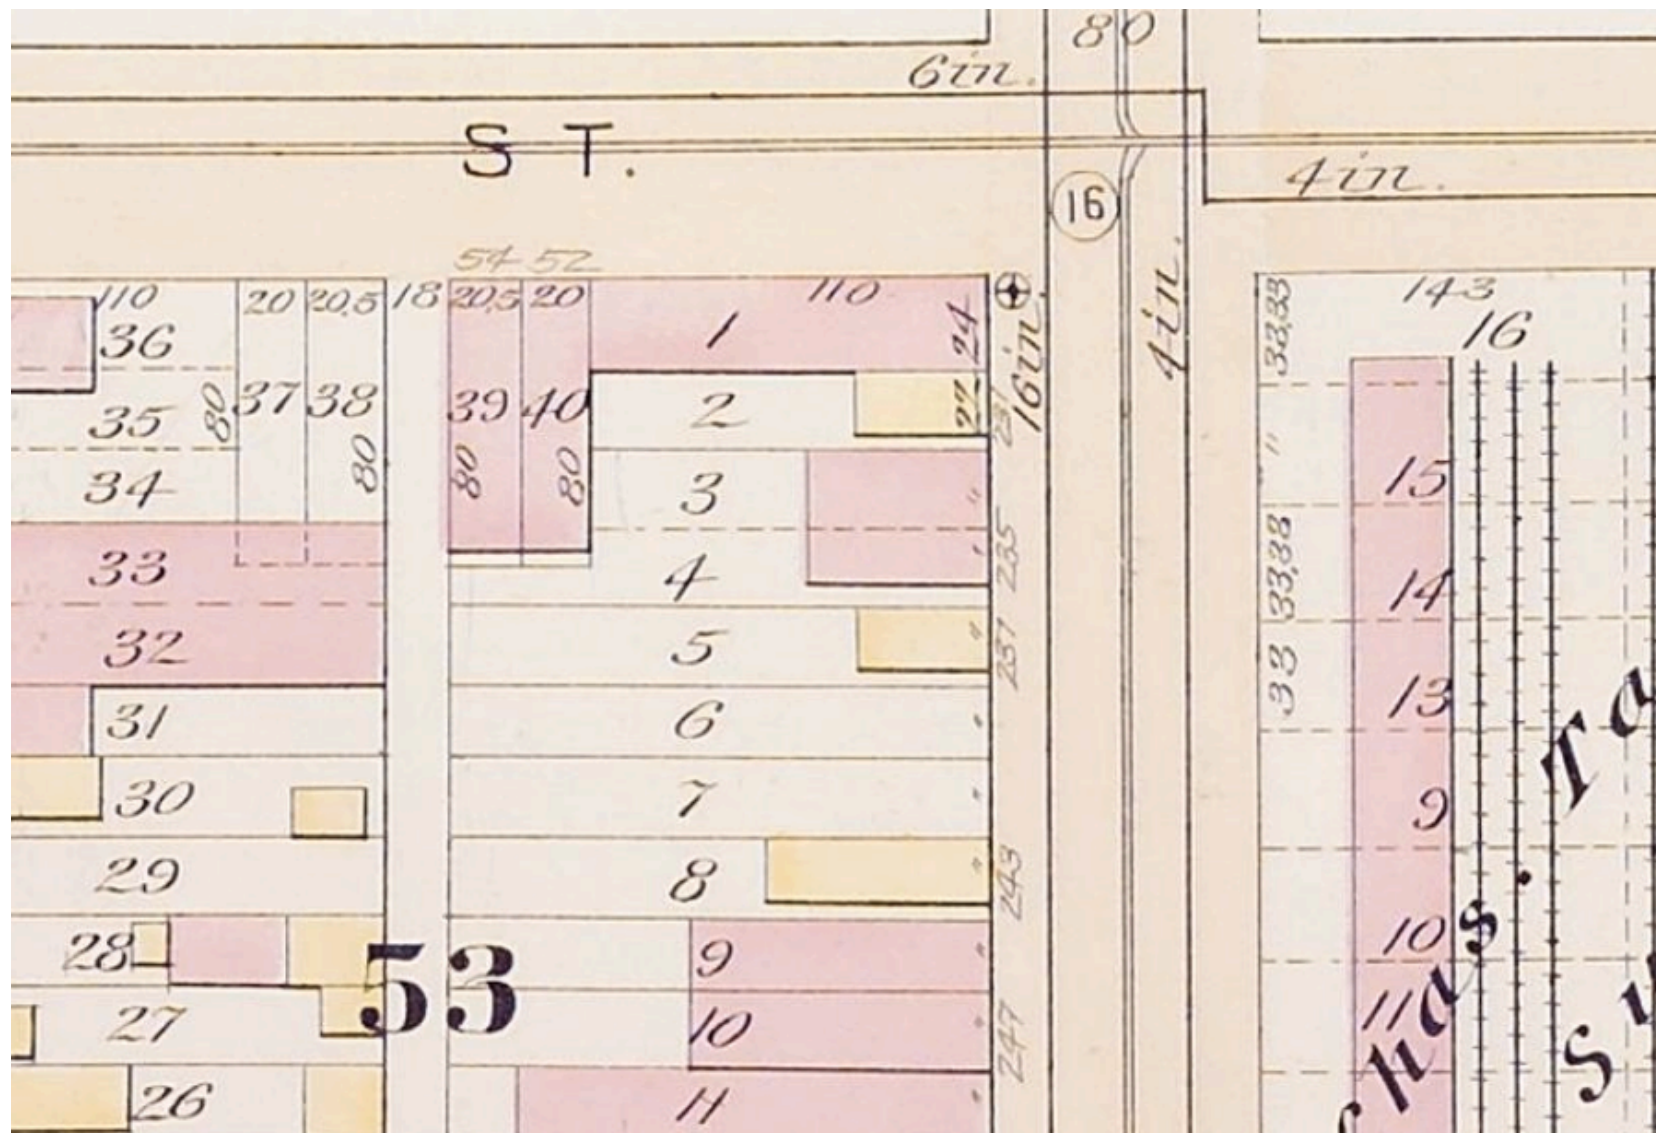

Its possible that back then, the small strip of a street could be Canal. Hard to tell from this angle. The main street right behind building is labeled Canal.

1868 Birds Eye Map (not perfectly drawn)

Compare this map to the 1857 below.

The bridge in center of image should be Van Buren and the first street west of the River is Canal.

1886 Robinson's Atlas

It is unknown whether the 1886 map may show the street as it existed prior to the 1871 fire (addressing system).

17th and Wentworth
South Loop - Chicago, IL

The Talbot saloon was located at 1700 S. Wentworth, which was the SW corner of 17th and Wentworth and known at the time as 32 Wentworth. Thomas Talbot purchased the property in 1865 while the family was living across the street on the SE corner of 17th and Wentworth, which was 33 Wentworth at the time. Over the years, the property was also known as 900 S. Wentworth before the addressing system was unified as 1700 S. Wentworth.

Records suggest that the Talbot family may have remained at 33 Wentworth for a few years after purchasing 32 Wentworth. They first appear at the 32 Wentworth residence in the 1870 Chicago directory when Thomas Talbot opened his saloon. The reason is unclear, but the family may have been living and/or working in both buildings during these initial years.

Prior to their residence on the SE corner of 17th and Wentworth, the family lived less than one block away near 17th and LaSalle.

Thomas Talbot sold 1700 S. Wentworth in 1887.

1857 Birds Eye Map of Chicago
The Talbot family home at 1700 Wentworth is shown in this map

It is the corner building on New St between New and Old Streets (four buildings in a row) in the center of the image
The building had a side extension (looks like one and one-half width total buildings)
Thomas Talbot purchased the property a few years after the date of this map.

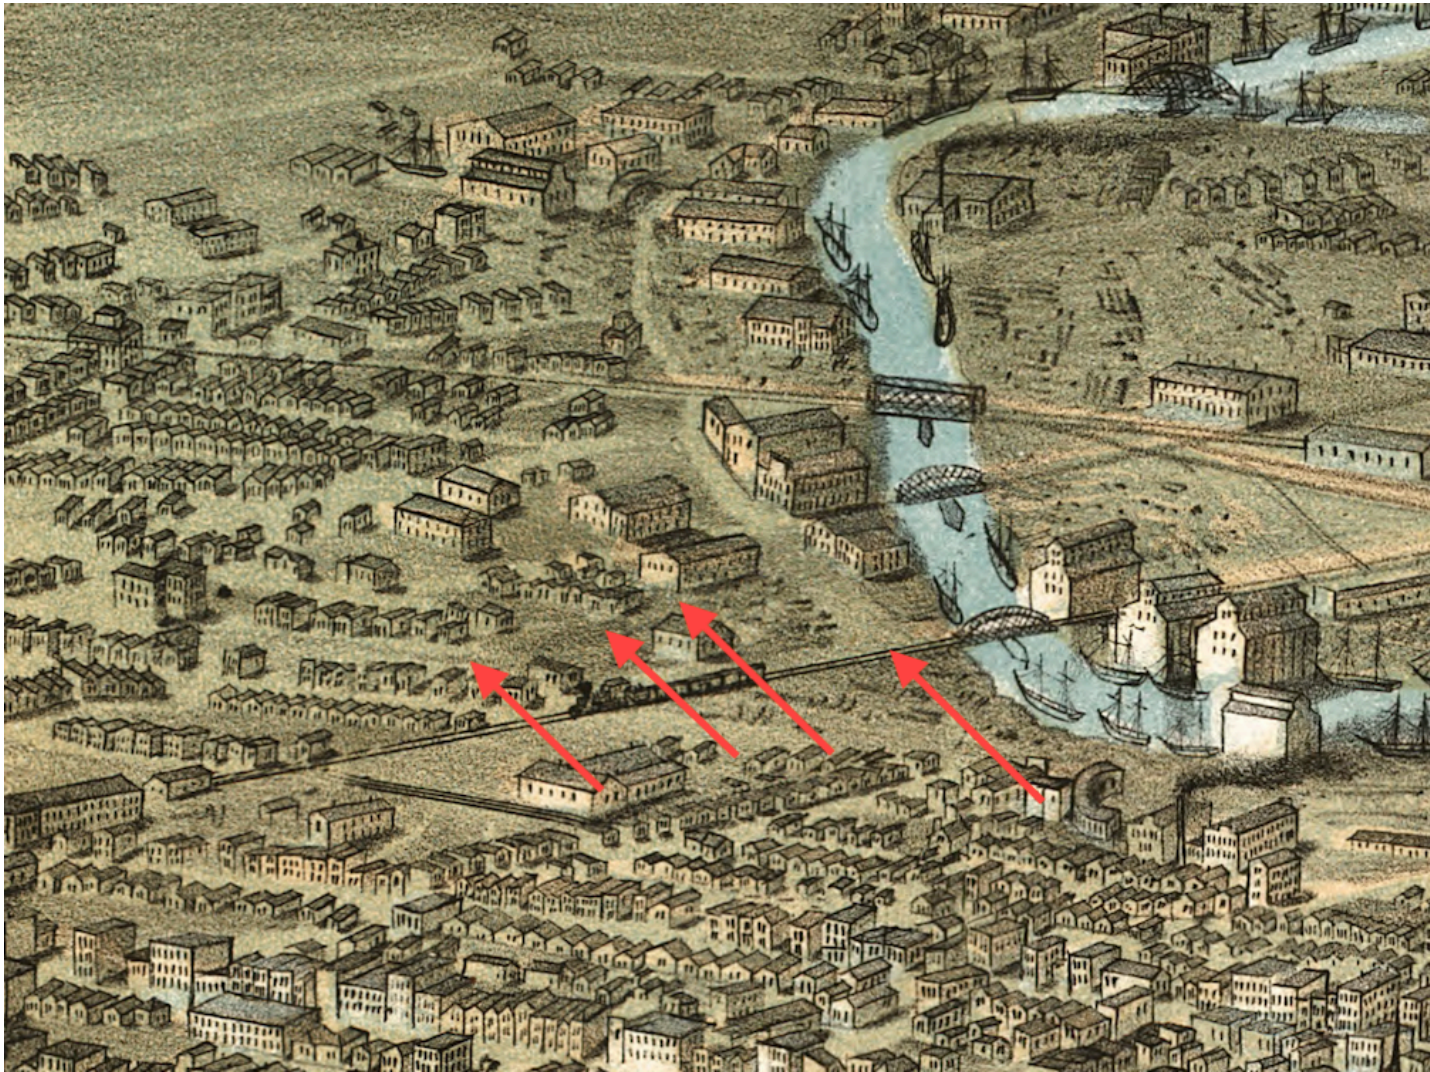

The middle arrow is 17th and Wentworth, according to this map. In this view, there was a two story building where the saloon was located (this might be the saloon).
The top-right arrow marks the point of intersection between Grove and 16th relative to Wentworth
The lower arrow is LaSalle St.

1868 Birds Eye Map (annotations below)

The Talbots are living on 17th and Wentworth (east side of the street).
Thomas already owned the saloon location, but they did not live there until 1870.

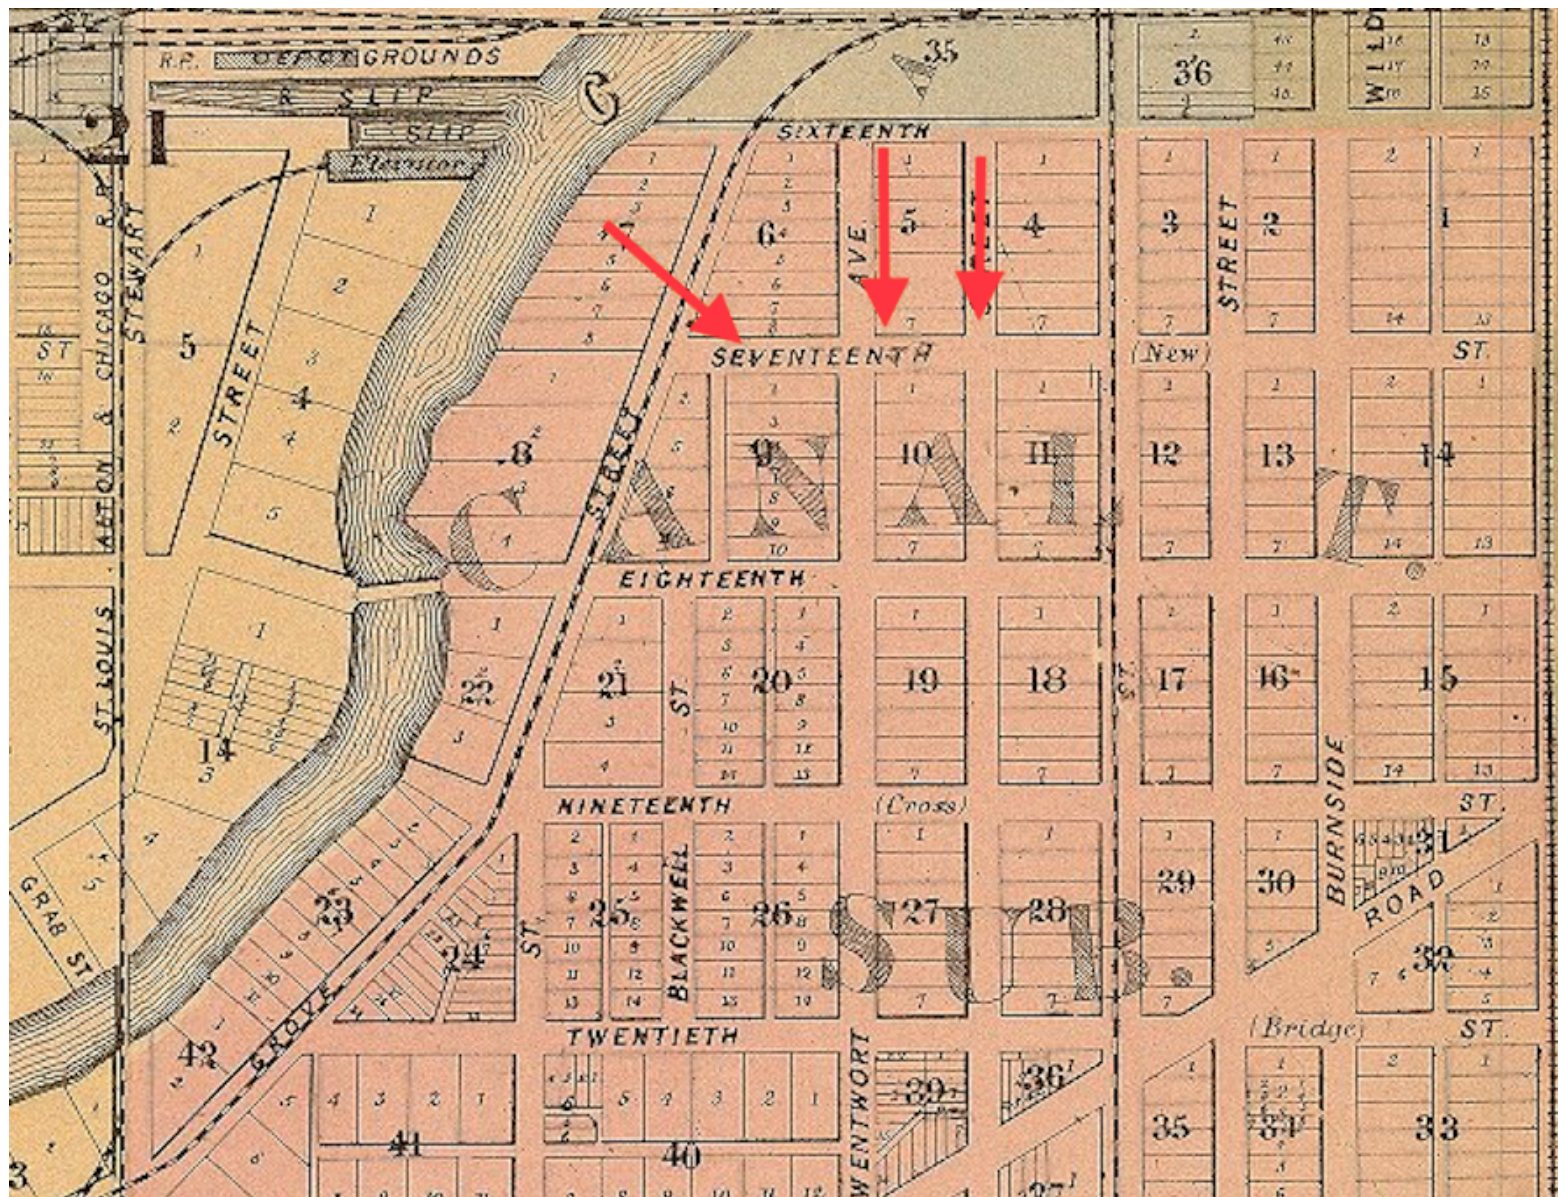

The right most arrow represents the intersection of Grove and 16th, which is essentially Wentworth.

According to this approximation, there is a large building on 17th, marked by the 2nd arrow from the right.

The left most arrow should be Clark St (note the circular building at base of right-most arrow).

2nd arrow from left would therefore be LaSalle. This is very difficult to determine whether this collection of houses is Clark or LaSalle (that would determine Wentworth)

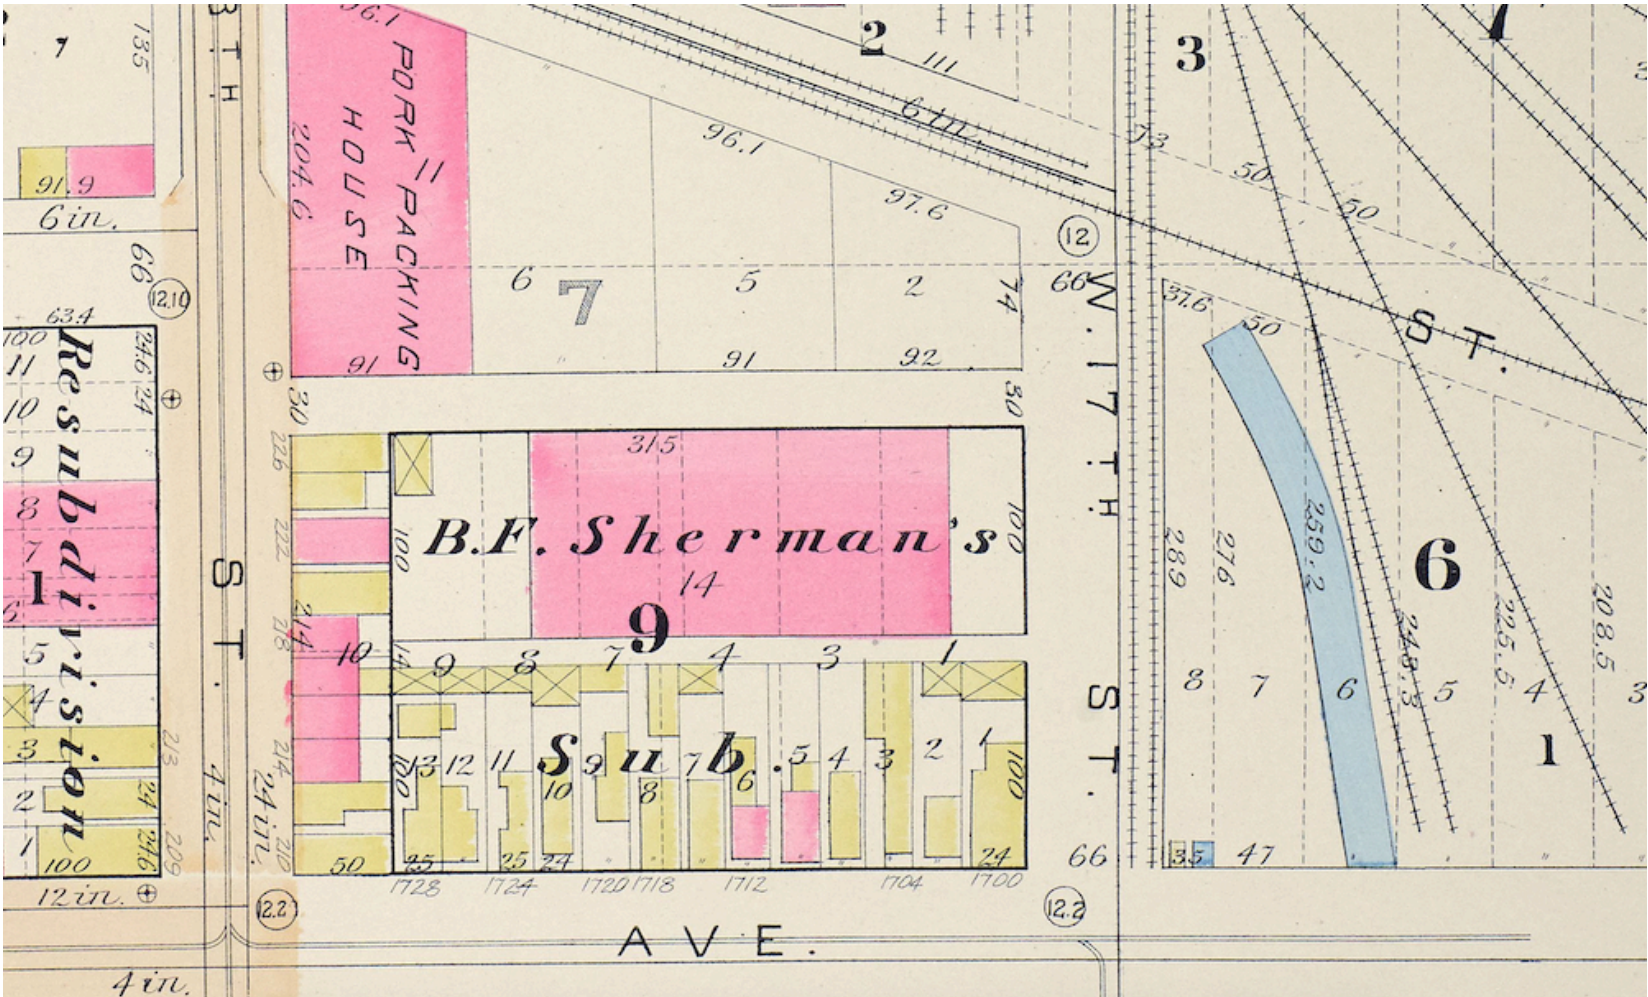

This might explain the subdivision. If that large building was torn down, the land could have been subdivided and sold.

1863 Block Map showing legal descriptions of real estate

The Right arrow shows LaSalle street (they lived on SE corner of 17th). The middle arrow shows the SE corner of 17th and Wentworth.

1886 Robinson's Atlas

1700 Wentworth was described as 24 foot wide and 100 foot long with a garage-like structure in the back.

Thomas Talbot sold the building in 1887, so this map reflects the street when the Talbots lived on the corner.

Note: When Thomas sold the property, it was described as 24x100 feet. It's unknown whether the 100 on the map reflects the building itself, or the total lot length.

Thomas Talbot was listed as a saloon owner in the business directory

The residential directory listed Thomas Talbot with a saloon and residence at 32 Wentworth

There are a few possible scenarios to explain why Thomas Talbot purchased 32 Wentworth in 1865, but did not appear to permanently live in the building until 1870:

1. 1700 Wentworth may have originally been 33 Wentworth and was renumbered to 32 Wentworth. However, it seems too coincidental that Thomas was a moulder at 33 Wentworth, but a saloonkeeper at 32 Wentworth. This would suggest these two addresses represent two different events.
2. Thomas Talbot was trying to maximize profits by renting out the entire building while living/renting across the street.
3. The building at 1700 Wentworth was un-inhabitable, and it took Thomas 4-5 years to fix the property.
4. The property was empty land, and Thomas built the building. More information is needed about real estate valuation in the area. He bought the property for $1,000 in 1865 and sold it for $7,300 in 1887 (22 years later).
5. Thomas Talbot owned 33 Wentworth (unknown) and purchased 32 Wentworth as an investment. Five years later, he took the building over to open a saloon.

The 1886 Robinson insurance map indicates that the left side of the building (south) was an irregular shape. Compare this to the 1857 Birds Eye Map, which appears to match this irregular shape.

Therefore, the 1857 Birds Eye Map and 1886 Robinson Map appears to reflect a similar irregular building. This would suggest either (1) it's the same building, or (2) the original building was rebuilt with the same irregular shape.

The side-by-side image shows that the buildings on the 1857 Birds Eye are not all the same compared to the 1886 Robinson, especially two buildings south. Therefore, there was rebuilding amongst these buildings to some degree between 1857 and 1886, or the Birds Eye Map is not entirely drawn with accuracy or scale.

Side-by-side views of the 1886 Robinson Insurance and the 1857 Birds Eye Map

The most important feature for analysis and comparison is the irregular shape of the building

17th and LaSalle (Arnold)

Talbot's were living at SE Corner of 17th and LaSalle

According to this map, there wasn't a building on the SE Corner. There was on the NE Corner.

4132 S. Wabash
Grand Boulevard - Chicago, IL

Thomas Talbot purchased 4132 S. Wabash three months after selling 1700 S. Wentworth. It's unclear where the family was living, or whether they may have already occupied the house on Wabash.

It is also unknown when the house was built, or whether Thomas Talbot purchased vacant land.

Hyde Park News - 9/10/1887
Thomas bought 4132 Wabash on 8/31/1887 for $2,500.

The original St. Elizabeth Church is shown on this map located on 41st and State where Marie Talbot was baptized and Thomas Talbot's funeral was held
The Talbot family home is located to the right of the '9' on the lower left of the image (zoom below)

1895 Sanborn Map

This map is more detailed than the 1890 version.

It's presumed (unconfirmed) that the black dot is where the door was located.

There is now, perhaps, a porch (or enclosed) in the back.

The garage is perhaps one story (compared to neighbors with two) and the door on the side.

1895 Sanborn Map showing the new Church on 41st and Wabash
 It also shows that the church had a school where the original church was located, therefore it's assumed the old church was simply converted.
 The land where the new church is located in 1895 was vacant on the 1890 map.
